HISTORY

Tuxedos and Tennis Shoes Catering, Inc. has been in operation in Seattle since 1986. Our name reflects the range of services that we offer from elegant formal affairs to casual, value-conscious events.

The catering business was initially begun by David Haggerty as a strictly off-premises operation specializing in formal dinner parties and tableside service in clients' homes. David Meckstroth joined David Haggerty in 1989 as co-owner and partner in the business. David and David gained their experience working in many of the area's finest restaurants.

Tuxedo and Tennis Shoes Catering purchased a retail deli in 1990 named Tuxedo Junction Deli. The deli was located at the Providence Medical Clinic on California Avenue in West Seattle. The business operated, from the Deli, for 3 years while building a catering clientele.

In 1993 Tuxedo Junction Deli was sold and Tuxedos and Tennis Shoes Catering took over the lease at Fauntleroy School Auditorium, giving it a much needed face lift and upgrading the equipment.

We have worked hard to enhance the reputation of this facility within the community and create an atmosphere that is well received by our clients and their guests.

While we are fortunate to offer our own facility Tuxedos and Tennis Shoes Catering continues to work hard to maintain its on-premise business as well as maintaining a strong focus on its exclusive and preferred status at numerous locations throughout the Seattle Area.
